CONDITIONS OF SALE.

I. THE highest Bidder to be the Buyer, and if any dispute arise between two or more Bidders, the Lot so a dispute shall be immediately put up again and re-sold.

II. No Person to advance less than 1s.—Above Five Pounds, 2s. 6d. and so on in proportion.

THE following Catalogue, it is hoped, may satisfy the first enquiries of the Virtuosi, whose curiosity will have been excited by the notice given, that the Abbey of Fonthill is about to be thrown open for the inspection of the Public, previous to the intended Sale of a considerable part of its Rarities and very precious Effects. But, as the quantity of these will be found too considerable, and the articles too various, for their several features to be distinguished on a first inspection of these pages; it is here, therefore, briefly premised, that

The Collection of Pictures comprises the Laughing Boy by L. da Vinci, which was long preserved and admired in the Cabinet of the famous Earl of Arundel; the Sibylla Lybica by Lod. Carracci, formerly in the Lansdown Collection; (Job and his Friends, the famous Santa Croce Master-piece of Sal. Rosa;) the Poulterer's Shop by G. Dow, and several precious Gems by Berghem, Mieris, V. Huysum and other Masters, from the Choiseuil and Praslin Cabinets, besides chef d'œuvres from various distinguished Collections.

The Assemblage of Porcelain will surprise by the quantity as well as beauty of the Specimens, which are of the finest Oriental, and of the old Seve, and other European Manufactures: that of the old Japan Lacquer upon Wood is without rival in this or any other Country. It will exhibit unexpected examples of the Ingenuity and Taste of the Japanese in this very delicate and admirable branch of Manufacture; especially a Coffin of Japan, incrustated with animals of solid Gold and Silver, formerly the property of Cardinal Mazarin, and a casket of extreme beauty, which formed a principal ornament of the collection of Madame de Pompadour.

The Sculptured Vessels of Topaz, Sardonyx, Agate, and Crystal, are numerous. One of them, in particular, is presumed to be from the tool of some Asiatic Greek Artist of the times of Classic Antiquity---others are Sculptured by Benvenuto Cellini, or mounted with his exquisite Jewellery and Chasings.

Among the Ivory Carvings will be found undoubted Specimens by Fiamingo, Magnus Berg, Strous, and other great Artists in that line.

The Armoires contain a sumptuous display of ancient Silver-Gilt Vessels, such as Sideboard Dishes, Ewers and Salvers, one of which belonged to K. Charles I.; others are of Moorish and Persian Chasing, a great number of rich and massive Silver-Gilt Candlesticks were designed by Moette, and executed by Auguste.

The Furniture comprises Cabinets of Buhl, and Ebony with the finest Florentine Mosaic, of Japan, and other costly Materials, including one very beautiful, designed by Bernini, and another by Holbein from the Palace at Whitehall; as also, a Set of Ebony Chairs, from Esher, which belonged to Cardinal Wolsey; and above all, a Magnificent Table of Florentine Mosaic, of extraordinary dimensions, inlaid with Marbles, of the Time of the Medici, formerly preserved in the Borghese Palace: the finest in Europe for Size and the disposition of its valuable materials

An Inspection only of this vast Assemblage of Articles of Taste and Magnificence can convey a true Notion of their Splendour and Beauty. They derive interest, many of them, from historical Anecdote, and all, from the enchanting Effect of the Building in which they are contained. Every article will be found worthy of the fine Taste which projected and reared the very beautiful ABBEY OF FONTHILL.

FINIS.

This sale never took place. Beckford, after removing a number of things, sold Fonthill & its contents for a lump sum. The buyer then had an auction on the premises by Messrs. Phillips - not by Christie's - in the fall of 1823. The 1823 auction, however, is no guide to what Beckford owned as it was "enriched" with everything London dealers had been unable to sell for the last few years.
